

Bridge - The Game That Gives Back

Louisville Central Community Center Receives ACBL Charity Foundation NABC $5000 Donation

At every NABC, the local host committee chooses a qualified local charity as a beneficiary of a grant from the ACBL Charity Foundation. For the Louisville Spring NABC, that organization is the Louisville Central Community Center, a community-based, anchor institution that co-creates development of vibrant neighborhood conditions within which children, adults and businesses can thrive – socially, academically, artistically and economically.

Their mission is to advance equity through empowerment of economically disadvantaged children and families within Louisville's Russell neighborhood, nearby neighborhoods and the larger community.

"We are a direct service agency; we do a full range of family and community development, including an early childhood development program, a school age enrichment program and an adult program focusing economic mobility and the three E's: education, employment and entrepreneurship," said Kevin E. Fields Sr., president of the Louisville Central Community Center. "I'm so excited for today's presentation, I can't thank you enough. We're really excited about what ACBL is doing in Louisville this week with the bridge Tournament."

(From left): ACBL Executive Director Bronia Jenkins, Kevin E. Fields Sr., president of the Louisville Central Community Center, ACBL Charity Foundation Trustee, Region 10 Director and Board Vice President Cindy Shoemaker and Louisville NABC Tournament Chair Joanne Traver.