Second Harvest Receives ACBL Charity Foundation NABC $5000 Donation

Jackie Zayac, President of the ACBL Charity Foundation, presented a check for $5000 to Heather Sweeney, director of development of Second Harvest Food Bank, along with tournament co-chairs Larry Federico and Jackie Madden.

Second Harvest is the largest charitable anti-hunger network in South Louisiana. Their mission is to end hunger by providing food access, advocacy, education and disaster response. They supply food pantries through nonprofit and faith-based member agencies such as St. Clement of Rome, which is how tournament co-chair Jackie Madden, who is a passionate activist, came to be aware of the charity.

“I am very proud of this organization,” said Madden. “We appreciate all your help and what you do for the community. We could not exist in this city without you all.”
